

LIFE IS LIKE A JOURNEY YOU TAKE ON A BOAT

© Copyright, R. Arnold 2004

chorus: Life is like a journey you take on a boat
You pray for blue skies, and that the ship stays afloat
You can see to the horizon, but you can't see below
Don't you float with the current - harness the wind
And have it take you where the Lord would have you go

In the beginning, it seems everyday
There are so many lessons to learn
But after a time, it seems that you find A way to know your bow from your stern

Encouraging words long to be heard
Over the course of these days
The Captain's face shows mercy and grace
If you set out to follow his ways

chorus: Life is like a journey you take on a boat
You pray for blue skies, and that the ship stays afloat
You can see to the horizon, but you can't see below
Don't you float with the current - harness the wind
And have it take you where the Lord would have you go

Well, it's shorter than you think across life's sea

Over to the other shore

It's a one way trip, you get just one ship

When you're across, you sail this sea no more

You can lose your direction if you don't have protection

From the sting of the salt and the foam

Guided by the sun and the stars as you run

The race to get to your home

chorus: Life is like a journey you take on a boat

You pray for blue skies, and that the ship stays afloat

You can see to the horizon, but you can't see below

Don't you float with the current - harness the wind

And have it take you where the Lord would have you go break: Sailing is easy when the trade winds are fair

With the sun at your back, and the wind in your hair

When the storm clouds threaten, and the wind starts to wail

The Captain knows to set the sail chorus and end